BEAD & SCOOBY WIRE ITEMS

Skilled wire artisans shape the wire frames using pliers and galvanised wire. The frames are then given to Zulu beaders who then select and thread the glass beads onto wire lengths which they then wrap around the frames creating your unique handcrafted gift. For the Scooby wire animals, plastic coated coloured wire is carefully wrapped around the wire frames by crafters to create your unique handcrafted gift.

TELEPHONE WIRE BASKETS

Intricately handwoven by Zulu crafters, this urban version of the grass and palm bowls originally made "back home" were started by Zulu men working on the mines, where they discovered off-cuts of plastic-covered telephone wire in a myriad of bright colours, ideally suited to weaving, being fine and flexible and the night watchmen would weave their knobkerries with this wire. This medium of using telephone wire was then used to make the bowls which are worked with great precision into intricate and colourful patterns. The Zulu Telephone Wire work has gained International fame and has become very collectable. These are called soft wire telephone bowls and are very functional for foodstuffs as they are also washable. Adorning your walls with them is a great option too.
